

Euroscicon Small Conference Structure

Euroscicon small conferences are designed so that delegates can have access to speakers in their field in a small informal setting.

Structure of the Day

Morning Session

A small conference day starts with talks from selected speakers lasting approx. 30 minutes each, allowing 5- 10 minutes for questions. These talks are interspersed with refreshment breaks, enabling delegates, experts and sponsors to interact with each other and view any submitted posters.

Lunch

We provide a working lunch where delegates are welcome to take food from our buffet and discuss their work with the meetings speakers and our exhibiting companies. Posters may also be on display from delegates, and this time is a good opportunity for the chairs to select the poster prize winner.

Question and Answer Session

After lunch we provide a discussion session where all our speakers sit on a panel and answer questions that have either been submitted during delegate registration or which have arisen during the day.

Afternoon Session

After a refreshment break in the exhibition area we continue with an afternoon session of talks from selected speakers and abstract presenters.

Exhibitions

Sponsors have exhibition tables set up in the main room where registration, refreshments, lunch and talks are held. This gives an unlimited opportunity for our delegates to have access to sponsors throughout the day. Our sponsors also have total access to the event and can join in the discussion and talks. We therefore kindly request that all exhibition tables are set up BEFORE the registration and they take their stands down at the END of the event
